Kev smokes out the guilty

LONDON'S BURNING

JAMIE BAMBER FACES HIS FEARS IN NEW FIRE DRAMA

The makers of Broadchurch and The Tunnel are enjoying a good run of dramas right now, and they can add this new eight-part series to their CV.

The Smoke charts the trials and tribulations of a group of London firefighters, with a cast including Law & Order star Jamie Bamber. He plays Kev, an experienced firefighter and leader of the White Watch crew. But after a near-fatal fire that leaves him trapped, injured and needing nine months of recovery, he goes back to duty.

It's tough stuff and Jamie recalls many hair-raising moments during filming.

"Fire is scary and I was on fire," he says. "I had to walk through it and have fireballs blasted at me. I did as many stunts as I was allowed to do, which means almost all of them."

Despite Kev's physical recovery, he's not quite healed mentally when called back to the estate where he was injured. And he soon discovers it was one of his colleagues who left him there to die on the day of his so-called accident.

Sarah keeps it in the family

Serious service from Cribbs

A GRAVE BUSINESS

FLY-ON-THE-COFFIN SERIES GRAVE TRADE RETURNS

Although death isn't something we like to think about, Sarah Cribb has no choice. As a member of T. Cribb & Sons, the oldest family-run funeral parlour in London's East End, it's her job.

A second series of fascinating documentary Grave Trade starts this week, in which cameras follow Sarah and her family as they organise funerals.

"When we were first approached to do a series, we were dubious because it's such a delicate area," Sarah tells HotTV. "Our first instinct is to protect the family and not have a camera in their faces when they're going through a traumatic experience. But many of the families involved appreciated it – the day goes by in such a blur, so to go back and see what happened, they take a lot of comfort in that."

In the new series, the undertakers' skills are put to the test when they're asked to conduct one of the largest funeral services of the year – with 300 guests and eight limousines.

BLAKE'S HEAVEN

THERE'S HEARTBREAK FOR THE INBETWEENERS STAR BLAKE HARRISON

As Neil in The Inbetweeners, actor Blake Harrison had his fair share of dodgy romantic liaisons. But in his new comedy, Edge Of Heaven, he is much less lucky in love.

Set in a 1980s-themed bed and breakfast in Margate, the show follows its Wham!-loving landlady, Judy, who runs the guest house with her husband and kids Alfie and Ann-Marie.

Blake Harrison plays Alfie, whose future is rocked when he's jilted at the altar by fiancée Carly. But he's unaware that Carly's best pal Michelle, played by ex-EastEnders' Louisa Lytton, has a crush on him.

"I have been heartbroken and upset before so it's stuff I can totally relate to," says Blake. "I have got an understanding of him and that's been really nice. When I played Neil, I had to work out why someone that dumb would come out with his logic, but with Alfie, I do feel sorry for him. I hope viewers do warm to him and I hope they will want him to be happy."

Louisa says she loved playing Michelle because she hasn't been forced to spend each day crying – as she did as Ruby in Albert Square.

"It is so nice to do something completely different that is more fun and upbeat," she admits. "I have had characters that have been put in crazy situations and normally it is very much the case of 'woe is me' and I have had to be miserable and cry all the time. But this is far more comical and it is nice to have a smile on my face and play someone who is feisty."

ANYTHING BUT BLAND
JENNIFER SAUNDERS RETURNS WITH HILARIOUS COMEDY BLANDINGS

Return of the batty aristocrats

There promises to be a little bit of extra 'funny' in the new series of surprise BBC hit Blandings this week when stand-up comedian Tim Vine, former star of Not Going Out, joins the cast as the family's loyal butler Beach.

He will appear alongside Timothy Spall and Jennifer Saunders, who reprise their roles as Lord Emsworth and his sister, Connie, for seven new episodes.

"I'd recently said to my agent that I wanted to do a period piece as I thought I'd look good in costume," says Tim. "And the 1920s is perfect, so I love putting on the butler gear. Beach obviously cares a lot for the family that he works for but they are all institutionalised, which is part of the humour."

In the first episode, The Duke of Dunstable tries to have Clarence committed to an asylum. And the duke's appearance annoys Connie.

"Connie is generally cross about everything," says Jennifer. "The fact that Clarence is an imbecile, but because he is a man he gets to run the estate, makes it worse. She tolerates him – but if she could take over, she would."

■ Blandings, Sunday, 6.30pm, BBC1

Over the Moone about soccer

THE WHOLE OF THE MOONE
THE MOONE FAMILY RETURN FOR MORE COMEDY HIJINKS

When funnyman Chris O'Dowd's semi-autobiographical story Moone Boy premiered last year, viewers fell in love with its gentle comedy. Set in the small Irish town of Boyle in 1989, it followed the adventures of 12-year-old Martin Moone and his chaotic clan and imaginary pal, played by Chris.

Now it's back for a second series as World Cup fever sweeps the country in 1990 and the Republic of Ireland play in the finals for the first time.

"Italia 90 was our 1966 and British people just don't realise; that was our golden period," Chris reveals. "When you were getting knocked out in another penalty shoot-out, we were winning penalty shoot-outs and they were bringing the nation together."

However, one member of the family isn't football mad. Martin's dad, Liam, would rather take his family on holiday to Donegal and when he gets his way, his hacked-off son hitch-hikes home to watch Ireland v Romania on his home turf.

"I'm going to the Kalahari tomorrow afternoon for a week or so," says the 87-year-old man HotTV meets at London Zoo, "then I come back and I go to Borneo."

Now, if this were anyone else, we'd think that they were pulling our leg, but we just happen to be chatting to Sir David Attenborough, who may be the most active octogenarian on the planet.

This year alone, the veteran documentary maker already has four shows in the pipeline, not to mention the one we're discussing – a second series of Attenborough's Natural Curiosities on Watch.

"It is a shot in the arm, as far as I'm concerned, this series," he says of the 10-parter which uncovers some of nature's more unusual tales. "I am delighted that history and human beings could come back into the stories of these animals."

Of course, it's not all jetting off to deserts and dealing with jungles, and David says that, while this series is more about digging into the archives, it's still plenty of fun.

"I know I'm going to have fun because making these things is fun," he says. "You go to interesting places, see interesting things and you do it with friends, so that is just great.

"The thing about this series is that most of it, as far as I'm concerned, is shot in museums, and it's pretty breathtaking going to a museum – but I managed! I don't fight hand-to-hand with anything though."

Still, he has to be careful what he says, because, as recent experience proves, everybody wants to see David Attenborough halfway around the world.

"I was asked (where I'd like to go) on one of these Twitter things and I said 'I'd like to go to the centre of the Gobi Desert,'" he says.

"I've never been there I'd like to go and I couldn't think of anything else to say. The next thing that happens is that someone from the BBC rings up and says 'Hey, do you want to go to the centre of the Gobi Desert?'"

And he would have gone if he hadn't been too busy, because, as the man himself says, he feels rather lucky to still be doing what he's doing.

"I'm kept relatively busy and I'm just extremely grateful that I am able to be so," he says.

"I'm not all that young and plenty of people of my age can't do this. It seems to be almost ungrateful to refuse if you've got the luck to be able to do it and people ask you. It's much more fun than sitting in the corner."

STEVE AND LLOYD FACE UP TO THE NAKED TRUTH

With Carla away you can bet that Peter is going to play, and once he's back from Paris he suggests to Tina that they make the most of the time they have together.

That involves going to the bookies' flat where old romantic Peter gives Tina a birthday bracelet before they get into bed together.

But when he sees the lights on in the flat, Steve, who thinks Peter and Carla are still away, fears something is up. He grabs the spare key from Michelle and takes Lloyd along to investigate, only to surprise a half-naked Tina while Peter showers. She manages to convince them that her hot water at home isn't working and later Peter arrives in the Rovers with his bags, pretending to have only just returned. But will everyone put the puzzle together?

Later in the week, Peter's got even more problems when he offers to give Tina a helping hand with her rent. She takes his offer the wrong way and makes it very clear that she can't be bought, no matter what's going on!

Elsewhere, Marcus and Todd are getting dangerously close to each other and Sean chips in, while Roy is finding it difficult to cope without Hayley.

FRESH CRISIS AS STACEY'S RETURN PROVES TOO MUCH

After Kat just missed finding Stacey, she's determined to track her down this week.

Alfie and Max realise what she's up to and try to talk her out of it, but, as she argues with Alfie, they're both stunned when Stacey walks in. Stacey gives Kat a piece of her mind, but it all proves too emotional and she runs off.

Mick sees her in a state and invites her into the Vic, but familiar surroundings and faces cause Stacey to get out of the Square altogether – and to quit her new life.

Kat refuses to give up, though. She takes Alfie with her to Luke's where she comes up with a plan to take Stacey back home – but will it work?

Elsewhere, it's a big week for Ian as Jane returns and he tries to get her to stay, as the threat of the market's closure hangs over him.

Kerry decides she is the right woman to help Brenda face up to her stealing problems by taking her shopping this week. But Bob is worried her methods may be unorthodox and he's proved right – they end up in hot water after Kerry gets into an argument and Brenda takes the opportunity to sneak off.

Later, when they leave the store, alarms ring and Kerry realises Brenda has taken something. Both women run away and hide in a bin. But when the police get them to the station, Brenda is allowed to go, leaving Kerry no option but to confess to theft – and left worrying that she's made Bob and Brenda's problems worse. She comes up with a plan, but can she reunite the couple?

Elsewhere, another thief is on the loose as Bernice and Nicola use a speed-dating event to try to catch Anton out and retrieve Jimmy's cufflinks.

Dancing on Ice

6.15pm & 8.30pm, ITV

We can barely believe that this is the final series of Dancing on Ice! With the all-star series hotting up and just six celebrities left to throw some elegant shapes on the ice, it seems that it's time to pick out our winner. Who's yours? Tonight, the couples will be divided into two rival teams who will battle it out for the judges' approval. The most impressive pair will have their score doubled on the leaderboard, pretty much guaranteeing them a place in next week's show. Silver fox Phillip Schofield and Christine Bleakley present the action. We can't wait! ★★★★☆

Dragons' Den

9pm, BBC2

A Ghanaian entrepreneur asks for investment for a chocolate drink, a Welsh couple look to revolutionise sleep with their British-made woolen duvets and a bevy of monsters will creep around the Den to pitch a children's storage device. Dragons Kelly Hoppen, Peter Jones, Deborah Meaden, Piers Linney and Duncan Bannatyne preside. ★★★★☆

Mr Selfridge

9pm, ITV

Those poor ladies. With more and more of the men signing up for service, the women decide to take jobs in the loading bay but struggle to adjust. Harry wishes he could do more for the war effort, so Delphine introduces him to some senior staff. Crabb plans rifle training, while Miss Mardle welcomes a surprise house guest. Ooh er! ★★★★☆

Ocean's Eleven

9pm, ITV2

With an all-star cast of Hollywood royalty including George Clooney, Brad Pitt, Julia Roberts and Matt Damon, Ocean's Eleven sees a smooth ex-con plan to pull off a complex heist using a team of sophisticated crooks. Plus, he tries to win back his estranged wife, who is now in control of a gambling empire. Clooney shines in his role as Danny Ocean. ★★★★☆

NEW SERIES

Modern Family

8pm, Sky1

One of the best TV comedies makes its return this week with not one but two episodes kicking off the new series. In the first, Claire and Phil try to find some time together while Jay and Gloria prepare Manny as he makes his first trip to Colombia alone. Then in the second episode, Luke and Manny get ready for their first day in high school but it's not just a big day for the boys, but for their parents too. Meanwhile, Claire starts work at her dad's company and Cam takes on a job as a substitute teacher, leaving Mitch to juggle Lily's pre-school and an important meeting. ★★★★☆

EastEnders

8pm, BBC1

Kat gets creative when trying to find Stacey but Alfie grows suspicious about her behaviour. Jane appears for another visit and makes life difficult for Ian and Denise. Meanwhile, Aunt Babe runs the show at the Queen Vic pub while the Carter's have the night off and Masood isn't happy when Shabnam suggests he should smarten up. ★★★★☆

Mom

9pm, ITV2

For those who are unfamiliar with this comedy, it stars Anna Faris and revolves around an alcoholic trying to get her life back on track after facing a tough time. Tonight, Christy decides she wants to take things slow with Adam while Bonnie and her rival from Alcoholics Anonymous, Marjorie, disagree on what taking it slow means. ★★★★☆

Coronation Street

7.30pm & 8.30pm, ITV1

Tina hears that Peter has returned from Paris and they spend the night together while Carla is away. Fiz fears the worst for Roy as he is nowhere to be found, while Dennis causes a stir after announcing his love for Rita – upsetting Gloria. Todd tries to make amends with Marcus and Maria but ends up telling them a sob story about his father. ★★★★☆

The Taste

9pm, Channel 4

Oh Nigella, how we love you and your fierce exterior. Rather than cooking up a storm in your own home, why not put your feet up and watch wannabe chefs squirm as they prepare their favourite dishes while facing scrutiny from the judges and the critical viewing public. The 12 contestants in each episode whip up their signature dish for judges Nigella Lawson, Anthony Bourdain and Ludo Lefebvre, who evaluate the meal with just a single spoonful of food. Unsurprisingly, something will always go wrong in the famous kitchen – what are they like? ★★★★☆

The second episode of the new series features Joe Crowley and Kate McIntyre offering great advice on crime prevention, using hidden cameras to show how criminals fool their victims. The duo also accompany police on raids, talk to regular people who have become heroes by fighting back and reunite victims with their lost items. ★★★★☆

In the last episode of the series, Kirstie Allsopp and Phil Spencer catch up with identical twins Matt and Chris Wickham who were hoping to buy a property together in South London. The case becomes tricky after the detectives realise that there is no CCTV footage of the incident, and worse is to come when a 19-year-old student is found dead with a flyer from the nightclub left in his pocket. THE GUARANTEED OVER 50 PLAN

Aged 50-85? Arrange life cover medical and no hassle...

...leaving you to enjoy the good things in life

Getting affordable life cover could be a lot easier than you think with the Guaranteed Over 50 Plan. In fact, as long as you're aged 50-85 you could call to arrange cover today.

And that's great news if you've been thinking about leaving a cash gift for your loved ones or you want to make provisions to help towards funeral costs when the time comes.

Like we say, it's life cover arranged in an instant with no medical and no hassle. That's what you get with the Sun Life Direct Guaranteed Over 50 Plan, provided by AXA Wealth Ltd.

AS SEEN ON

in an instant with no

Guaranteed acceptance – no medical or health questions

Your health is simply not an issue. If you're aged 50-85, we guarantee to accept you instantly with no questions asked.

And once you've had the Plan for two years, it guarantees to pay out a fixed cash sum on your death. But if you die before then, we will pay out all the premiums paid plus half as much again. Just be aware that inflation will reduce the value of your cash sum over time.

Affordable premiums fixed for life

Once you've chosen a premium you are comfortable with, we promise that your premiums will never go up and your cover will never go down. You just need to keep paying your premiums for life, as if you stop, your Plan will end and you won't get anything back. Also, depending on how long you live, you could pay in more than the cash sum paid out.

Claims paid within days

It's important to know that the money will be available as soon as possible. In fact, 93% of claims are paid out in just three working days once we've received the required documents – meaning loved ones have one less thing to worry about at a difficult time.

Trust the specialists

We've specialised in this type of cover for over 30 years and during that time we've paid out over £500 million in claims¹. We've made it quick and simple to apply, so you know you're in good hands.

To help you decide if a Plan is right for you, you can send off for a special information pack complete with a personal example of cover. Alternatively, you can arrange cover over the phone, or online in an instant.

You get a FREE Parker pen just for enquiring and if you take out a Plan you can choose a welcome gift. Plus the first month's premium is free.

*Most popular whole of life guaranteed acceptance plan bought directly. ABI statistics - 12 months up to 30 June 2013. ¹As at 5th September 2013.

LEO

JULY 24 – AUG 23
